

Certificates in General Education for Adults

The CGEA program provides skill development in reading, writing and numeracy and assists student study preparation in a variety of areas to meet personal needs, facilitate participation in the community, or other workplace and further educational training.

The Course in Initial General Education for Adults provides learners who have low literacy and numeracy skills the opportunity to build confidence, re-engage with learning and a pathway into AQF qualifications.

Certificate I outcomes focus on the development of literacy skills to create and interpret simple, personally relevant texts in everyday familiar situations. Skills and knowledge are applied to develop and document a learning plan, prepare a portfolio to evidence learning and engage in a project.

Certificate II outcomes focus on the development of literacy skills to read, interpret, evaluate and create a range of texts and to apply knowledge of everyday and formal numeracy in a range of contexts. Outcomes also focus on the skills and knowledge to conduct a project and to investigate pathways and develop, implement and review a learning plan.

Certificate III outcomes focus on the development of literacy skills to read, interpret, critically analyse and create complex texts and to perform a range of complex mathematical tasks. The Certificate III also includes the ability to research a range of pathway options and identify and progress toward personal goals.
